UNTIL THE LIGHTS COME ON

ft. Livia Benttner

OFFICIAL RELEASE • 12 SEPTEMBER 2026

A NOTE FROM ANDY

Some Songs Stay. This One Did.

This song has been part of my repertoire for a long time. I have carried it with me, and now it finally has its official release date: 12 September 2026.

Until the Lights Come On, featuring Livia Benttner, is about letting someone close again without asking one night to answer every question. Sometimes there is still something worth feeling, even when you cannot promise what comes next.

To everyone who makes room for my music: this is the moment I get to share it with you.

THE STORY

Before Morning Asks Too Much.

There was a time when a call meant someone had made it home safely. Now, the same name appearing on a screen brings back more than either of them knows how to say.

On a night neither expected to share, the distance between them disappears. A head against a chest. Fingers finding the familiar seam of a sleeve. Small things the body remembers after the mind has learned to leave.

They could ask what this means. They could make another promise. Instead, they let the music keep the morning outside a little longer. Nothing has been solved. But for this one night, neither has to be alone.

*“When the lights come on,
let me be the last to know.”*

Until the Lights Come On

VERSE

You used to call when you got home.
I used to wait until you did.
Now you're a name that lights my phone,
And I don't know what time it is.

PRE-CHORUS

But here you are, against my chest.
I feel your breath before you speak.
Let's leave tomorrow where it is.
Tonight, there's nothing we must fix.

CHORUS

Stay until the lights come on.
Stay until the fear is gone.
We don't have to last forever.
We still have this night together.

Until the Lights Come On

VERSE

You trace the seam along my sleeve,
That little thing you used to do.
I spent so long learning to leave.
Tonight, I make some room for you.

PRE-CHORUS

Don't say we're starting over now.
Don't promise what you cannot give.
Just let me feel you breathing out.
There's still a little night to live.

CHORUS

*Stay until the lights come on.
Stay until the fear is gone.
We don't have to last forever.
We still have this night together.
Stay until the lights come on.
Stay until the fear is gone.
We don't have to last forever.
We still have this night together.*

OUTRO

*When the lights come on,
let me be the last to know.*
